

Response to a question about speedometer cable routing.

The speedo cable comes out through the big grommet in the fibreglass gearbox cover, through an X slit in the carpet, up across the top of the steering column brace and around into the back of the speedo head. See pictures of an original car and a freshly restored one..

Rich Chrysler

The grommet that Moss sells for a Sprite wiper tube through the firewall and Hemphill's sells for the rear fuel line trunk bulkhead is also correct for the speedo cable through the gearbox cover on centershift cars.

Doug Reid, 18G Motorworks

